Brighton Churches:
The Need for Action Now

96 pages. Full colour

Central Brighton is home to a number of 19th-century churches of great size and beauty. This report by the late Thomas Cocke – with stunning new photography by Matthew Andrews – examines the superb but all too little-known interiors of these churches and warns that, with rising costs of repair and maintenance combined with declining congregations, the threat of closure looms for many.

Price: £20 (£18 for Friends) plus p&p*

* Previously ordered copies will be sent at no extra cost

Triumph, Disaster and Decay:

Edited by Robert Hradsky, this report features essays by Marcus Binney, Gavin Stamp and others and includes a gazetteer of buildings at risk in Liverpool. It includes new photography commissioned from Paul Barker.

Price: £12.50 (£10 for Friends) plus p&p

All We Need is Love:
The SAVE Buildings at Risk Catalogue
2009/10

200 pages. Full colour

The SAVE Buildings at Risk catalogue has become the definitive survey of the most enticing, romantic and unusual vacant and 'problem' buildings throughout England and Wales. The latest catalogue features buildings to suit a range of tastes and budgets – houses in town and country, agricultural and industrial buildings and redundant churches. Although not all the featured properties are openly on the market, many could be secured by a determined buyer. This year's catalogue also features five 'success stories' – buildings from previous registers which have since been lovingly restored, as well as a section offering useful advice on the sometimes complex negotiations which can be necessary in order to acquire 'at risk' buildings.
